8	the organization to promote workforce should be volunteers, no paid positions!	Sep 2, 2011 5:07 PM
9	I think that that workforce training is key and future employers should be hiring people with the intent to train. Unemployment seems to be very high particularly in the unskilled workforce and I think that training is a key component.	Aug 31, 2011 9:59 AM
10	Increased intercity transit for employee positions in the county.	Aug 31, 2011 8:23 AM
11	There are already several organizations in the area (ie-chambers of commerce) devoted to attracting businesses to the area. No need to reinvent the wheel. Continued support of these organizations is needed, but we do not need another bureaucratic organization to muddy the waters.	Aug 31, 2011 8:17 AM
12	Encourage workforce EQUALITY. Sex, Sex orientation, Religion, Skin color, or ethnicity should play no role in performance of a job, or who should or should not be hired. Encourage workforce diversity derives racial and sexual inequality.	Aug 30, 2011 3:48 PM
13	Rather than "Continue to play a supportive role in area economic development efforts", I would suggest that Johnson County needs to be playing a leading role in this area. High-tech, high-growth companies, with their highly educated workforce, will provide the means to support most of the other initiatives in the 2030 workplan. Johnson County needs to be on the forefront to attract these companies to the area.	Aug 30, 2011 3:40 PM

even more out-dated, boomer-age rhetoric. For example, diversity. Doesn't this usually mean race, gender, and disabilities? Take a look around, please, right here in JoCo. You'll already see a variety of mixed families which equate to a possible future workforce nonchalant to diversity. But what about the class division that has widened ; how is each and every household going to survive with pensions cut, retirement plans looking like a mere stock market gamble, and so on? Plus, and maybe more importantly, so many folks are in credit card debt, will they ever learn how to manage their money to begin with? I suggest, be imaginative, very imaginative (with practical results in mind). If you create an organization focused on promoting workforce development, create an organization that develops more optional sub-communal/collective communities who have their finances managed, household maintenance provided; an example of innovative thinking that will attract big businesses to the area. Note: As I respond to this survey, my answers may sound too "open-minded". If this questionnaire had come across as more "imaginative", my answers have taken on a conservative tone. Whatever is decided, please ultimately consider a balanced approach as the end result. Sound good?

17	It is my beleif that government should stay out of the business sector. Business can take care of themselves. Some will fail and new ones will take there place. Lower paying jobs will frequently be filled by persons not living in JOCO requiring better access. Livable wage jobs will require a highly educated work force which means the K-university involvement to create qualified workers needs to be included.	Aug 30, 2011 9:49 AM

19	Yes, There should be property tax credits for those who homeschool their children, or all extra curricular activities should be able to be used by ALL children living in a school zone. So those children who are homeschooled and are on-line acadamy taught are not treated like second class citizens by the community they live in.	Aug 30, 2011 3:51 PM

21	2.Yes, it is said we have a good education system in Johnson County but compared to who or what; sounds like an assumption to me. You ask two questions related to funding so it that already the most important issue, money? True, good teaching is not easy and it doesn't come on cheap. My humble recommendation? First, re-imagine education from the ground up and recognize the challenges that the next two decades underlie all areas of this questionnaire; you might not need additional funding if you/we think smarter first. ... Haven't read this recently published book but heard of it and would like to, Learning Futures: Education, Technology and Social Change. 26	Schools need better teachers and less bureaucracy. Do away with tenure -it's archaic and nonsensical in today's society. Pay based upon performance not time-in-grade. Require teachers to pass proficiency exams. Encourage professionals to teach. Every single one of the recommended actions cited here deals with funding. That doesn't help students learn. Summits to what end? Less talking more doing.	Aug 30, 2011 12:59 PM

39	Instead of continuing to raise taxes and fees, take a CLOSE look at how districts are spending their education funding. The Blue Valley district is a distressing example of wasteful spending while complaining that they don't get enough funding. If this trend continues, Johnson County may tax itself out of existence. The visioning committee needs to include responsible use of other people's money as one of its main themes.	Aug 18, 2011 7:32 AM

15	3.Supporting high quality public safety and emergency services is number one. A sense of safety and security must exist to provide for all the other "principles" listed in this category, "A safe, healthy, and caring community". The psychologist, Maslov, is well know for his hierarchy of needs with the two being listed first: I.Physiological Needs: These include the most basic needs that are vital to survival, such as the need for water, air, food and sleep. Maslow believed that these needs are the most basic and instinctive needs in the hierarchy because all needs become secondary until these physiological needs are met. II.Security Needs: These include needs for safety and security. Security needs are important for survival, but they are not as demanding as the physiological needs. Examples of security needs include a desire for steady employment, health insurance, safe neighborhoods and shelter from the environment. As a	Aug 30, 2011 3:07 PM local government, focus on the first two to begin. All of the other actions in this category could go, perhaps, under a new umbrella of "Behavior-Based Approach for a sustainable community" which would support the first two but from the angle of his remaining three levels: social needs (for belonging), esteem needs, and self-actualizing needs. You mention fund raising again but what about a new government system of building a public trust instead of spending all the tax collected money every year?

16	Not only is it important to aggressively pursue grant opportunities, it is important to evaluate programs to determine if funding should be continued should the grant go away. A lot of grants are provided as "seed" money to create new programs. What is missing is the County's response to poverty and homelessness. Poverty is a complex issue that extends beyond food pantries; prevention/early intervention should help to address that.	Aug 30, 2011 2:08 PM
17	Focus on human services is a top priority. Johnson County government has a habit of spending as little as possible on human services but claiming all credit for programs.	Aug 30, 2011 12:53 PM
18	These are lofty goals considering who the Sheriff currently is and his ideals. Unless you have Judges, Sheriff, and Corrections and Community Corrections leaders all following the same guidelines and wanting the same outcomes (not following how to get re-elected), this will be something to strive for but not achieved.	Aug 30, 2011 12:49 PM
19	Cities in this county should be able to fill some of these responsibilities taking the burden off of Johnson County. The county should not have to solve all the problems nor should we duplicate many of the services that are provided or could be provided by city's.	Aug 30, 2011 12:49 PM

8	Put more time and money into mass transportation. Add bike lanes on roads or reduce road space for cars and give to bikers. In Europe some countries make it very inconvenient for the car and very convenient for the bicycle. Like plenty of parking for the cyclist very little for cars. Traffic signals favor the cyclist while cars have to wait and wait.... It becomes frustrating for the motorist which changes people's choices.	Aug 31, 2011 2:41 PM

11	Yes, the Jo transportation should be scrapped, and with the yearly buget buy those who have no vehicle a vehicle. This would be cheaper on the taxpayers. Also like the aspect of "old rail" using the existing railroad tracks for commuters. The tracks cover the largest areas of the metro and reaches evey city.	Aug 30, 2011 4:02 PM
12	4. Ah, there it is; finally, the phrase that renders imagination and hope, "A Sustainable Pattern of Growth". Yep, yep, yep, thanks for including this category. Instead of waiting for even this report to be finalized, can anyone here at JoCo crack down on littering as the fundamentally first step we as a community can do that would show immediate results that we can even do more to be good stewards of this local space we call "home"? More "radically", how about plain, old fashion government ban on the type of products that come into the county that aren't recyclable? P.S. building new ones. Leave the green space alone and use what we have first. Nothing brings the appearance of an area down as much as multiple empty buildings with overgrown grass and weeds.

15	Some of this is not very visionary. Evaluating current sewer financing is on operational goal not a strategic one. To invest in transportation we need to define where we want to go. We don't know that yet.	Aug 30, 2011 1:29 PM
16	give high priority to maintaining green areas to support psychosocial and environmental health of citizens	Aug 30, 2011 12:58 PM
17	It's hard to justify "higher taxes" when land continues to be bought, new houses being built, and new high schools being built and then cry poor to the community. How many schools need to be within 1 mile of each other just to justify school districts - hence fighting over boarders and monies into the specific areas? How long with OP and Olathe fight Spring Hill for boarders? Don't we all live within the same County and can share the same resources? The only change in population Johnson County is seeing is everyone trying to move South. I can not vote on this whole section as I see them all as "6". Sewer, Water, and resource allocation for the County should be re-evaluated each year.	Aug 30, 2011 12:57 PM
18	Promote the development of smaller homes that older people can live in, then create transportation systems that can better move people	Aug 30, 2011 12:55 PM
19	Population growth is driven by a number of factors such as cheap ground, sewers, roads and availability to schools, stores and entertainment. Cheap ground is usually in the county since there are no excise taxes, but many other needs are not there so pressure comes to the county to try to deal with it. County development should only occur if suitable ground does not exist in cities. Again, the county tries to be the answer to way too many needs of the citizens. Why are we in duplicate businesses such as parks, libraries, parks, sewers and so on while many cities provide these services as well if not better than the county.	Aug 30, 2011 12:55 PM
20	Light rail should be investigated and considered in a combined effort with each city and town in Johnson County. Every city would be united and could benefit by creating a city identity; reasons why residents come to spend time there. Festivals, shopping, cities historical value could all be better utilized by every citizen in the county. When and if KCMO builds a system and would like to connect to Johnson County we would have the leverage of a developed and economically viable system.	Aug 30, 2011 12:51 PM
21	We need better public transportation throughout the ENTIRE county. The current JO boundaries are absurd. We could also team with companies such as 10/10 cab and work out a deal to assist persons with developmental disabilities in getting rides back and forth to work. 30	Do not support bus transportation down Metcalf. Need door to door transport, like the 10/10 taxi. This service could be partially funded by the county. Elderly population cannot walk to bus, and that type of service truly would not meet the needs. Transport to Dr. office, hospital out pt. treatments, and drugstores for Rx are all necessary for elderly. The door to door service is best. If the taxi service can make a profit doing this, it should be a viable alternative. The current Sr. bus option that is available is too slow, must be scheduled in advance, and has too long of a wait time on both ends. If a medical problem happens during the day and the resident can get a Dr. apt, they need to get in that day.	Aug 15, 2011 12:39 AM

Efficient and effective government: The 360 degree personal feedback tool that more and more departments are implementing plus the normalization process Human Resources is proceeding with is hopeful. The normalization or equalization of roles needs to continue and expand, however (in my humble opinion) to include reviewing and equalizing the bias of management, for example, the manager who consistently doesn't give a good review for an employee (or employees) because he doesn't understand or can relate to that person's job but rates another employee, more like himself, higher. P.S. Upon further analysis that is because "art" and "religion" are so well integrated into a person's lifestyle they are not separated. Plus, aren't we caught in a cultural art loop, the same old music, etc., for decades now. As much as I like the "arts", I say all steam ahead on protecting the environment and maybe getting that message across in the way of "art" and thus getting out of our commercially defined loop. We also need ways to decrease the number of crimes in Johnson County and funding for more social workers and access to them.	Aug 18, 2011 8:34 AM

Page 8, Q8. Do you have any general comments about the draft Vision Report that you would like to share with the committee?

1	I do not clearly hear in it the strengths in embracing our increasingly diverse community nor how we should be deeply invested in assuring that all residents in the county be afforded the opportunity to economically and educationally succeed - and that supports for those going through hard times are available until they can return to self sufficiency	Sep 21, 2011 11:09 AM
2	Not sure of the implications of some of the action. Would be helpful to have info in advance of presentations. Presentations should be more interactive.	Sep 19, 2011 10:16 AM
3	Transportation and housing stated more strongly encourage shift in privatization	Sep 16, 2011 2:38 PM
4	The emphasis on growth and prosperity positive and understandable. However, I am greatly concerned about the growing division between rich and poor increasingly evident in JoCo. I'd like to see obvious concern with this issues in the Vision Plan	Sep 16, 2011 2:35 PM
5	Excellent work by the Vision Comm. Priorities: 1) Education 2) A Culturally Rich and Active Community 3) Efficient and Effective Government 4) Safe, Health, and Caring Community 5) Economic Vitality 6) Sustainable Pattern of Growth	Sep 16, 2011 2:23 PM

11	Top priority over the next 1-2 years: Identify new ways to engage the diversity in JoCo Something we've missed: the need to demonstrate that ethnic minorities are welcome re affordable housing and workforce inclusion.	Sep 16, 2011 1:55 PM
12	You've done a good job of addressing and presenting a very complicated vision in an understandable manner. Cities must cooperate! Don't let naysayers limit or reduce the vision. People must work toward consensus.	Sep 16, 2011 1:06 PM
13	Mike did a great job!	Sep 16, 2011 1:01 PM
14	We (JoCo) are getting the reputation of stealing business from lower economic areas. We need to watch our ethical business practice.	Sep 16, 2011 12:20 PM
15	Find ways to us public volunteers who are experts in their field to lead committees to do counties work in new areas. Don't allow North part of the county to continue to deteriorate - North OP is quickly falling apart. It is becoming an old city with only a poor population remaining and vacant space in Mission, Metcalf, Etc. Plans in place but nothing is happening - when will it begin to work? Why will activity return? really more time more focus on the old infrastructure, schools, etc. Need return of retail, growth, new buildings, etc. -	Sep 16, 2011 12:17 PM population still there - OP is dying. A vision plan should be based on projected income levels, and population aging levels. not just make over where all budget, departs etc are just assumed to grow and increase, really?

16	Loot at precedence of communities that are "green", pedestrian friendly and implement them - take the risk - obviously people want it - they talk about it all the time but not an exemplary neighborhood that does this.	Sep 15, 2011 5:26 PM
17	I commend you for having a plan for future needs in our county and input from the community you serve.	Sep 15, 2011 11:41 AM
18	Thank you for the thoughtful study and analysis the Vision Report represents.	Sep 14, 2011 3:22 PM
19	Nothing really inspires me...sounds like status quo...doesn't sound actionable or collaborative enough with various stakeholders in the community.	Sep 13, 2011 11:38 PM
20	We need a unified county government similar to Fairfax County, Virginia. "Consolidation"	Sep 10, 2011 5:18 PM
21	I moved to Johnson county because I like suburbs. Attempts to urbanize it go against everything the county has been about. Quit letting Overland Park base it's future earnings on taxing Stilwell.	Sep 2, 2011 7:11 AM
22	I would like to see an added emphasis on implementing a sustainable development strategy in the final report. Adopting an effect plan to manage future growth will only help to satisfy the rest of your goals, like economic vitality, education, safety, efficient government, and a culturally rich and diverse community. A sustainable development pattern over the next 20 years is critical to the future of Johnson County. We must take an aggressive role in promoting in-fill and redevelopment in under utilized areas where services already exists. New development MUST pay for itself. One must only look to our neighbors across the state line to see implications of allowing traditional development patterns to continue. Our cities are already struggling to maintain the infrastructure that exists today. If we continue to allow urban sprawl; water, sewer, police, and fire services in our urban core will suffer.	Sep 1, 2011 10:44 AM
23	Proposed goals do not speak specifically to addressing the growth of poverty in Johnson County and our changing demographics. Perhaps we need a task force on poverty?	Sep 1, 2011 9:16 AM
24	Thank you for your time and service on this project!	Aug 31, 2011 10:45 AM
25	Natural Resources Protection - no mention of one the greatest threats to our natural resources in explosion of exotic and invasive species both animal and plant. Status quo - will result in a transformation of native vegetation to exotic species. Serious threat to native species!	Aug 31, 2011 10:05 AM
26	Your time waw spent well...social expenditures for the next 10 years will be heavy to be helpful. Either a nine year elementary or 5 year high school term is needed and possibly year-round schooling. More time is needed to emphacize the impact of history on the present and future progress.	Aug 31, 2011 8:48 AM

Page 8, Q8. Do you have any general comments about the draft Vision Report that you would like to share with the committee?

27	Would like to more specifics, not so vague. Would like to see how waste is being curbed.	Aug 30, 2011 7:19 PM
28	I think the report should 1) identify the potential economic vulnerabilities the County may be facing as the economy continues to change and 2) recommend public sector options for addressing this; ie, if gov't budgets will continually need to be cut what are the most important services that will need to be maintained.	Aug 30, 2011 4:33 PM
29	Thanks, have a great day.	Aug 30, 2011 4:30 PM
30	Two comments: 1) Several places in the report mention "evidence-based" outcomes, plans, programs, etc. without ever defining what that means. "Evidence" is often something that can be interpreted in multiple ways, depending on the user's point-of-view. It would be nice to see some examples of such programs, plans, etc. listed in the plan, so that users could research them for themselves and find out if the "evidence" meets the needs and/or promotes the results that they are trying to achieve. 2) "Diversity" is a catch-all phrase that I almost hate to see in a report such as this. While it is often interpreted as "racially diverse", it can have other meanings as well. Without denying the fact that the county's population is becoming more racially diverse, it is important to make sure that "racially diverse" doesn't have the same effect as "segregated by choice". Remembering your past and history is one thing; holding on to it to the exclusion of adapting to your new home is quite another, and I fear that it is happening more and more. Promoting diversity should not mean helping people to remain apart from others, but allow them to embrace their neighbors without forgetting their roots.	Aug 30, 2011 4:23 PM
31	I think that promoting recycling and reduction of waste might need broader and stronger support from County Government.	Aug 30, 2011 3:57 PM
32	7. I'm exhausted just answering this questionnaire. Johnson County, however, could be at the beginning (not the end) of being superbly great. Good luck to you. Thanks for asking!	Aug 30, 2011 3:23 PM
33	This is very well done. I feel the areas of responsible growth, commerce, the well being of our citizens and sustainability have all been addressed. I appreciate the time everyone has given to help create a realistic future for the county. It is evident you have spent a great deal of time and energy to create this document. Thank you.	Aug 30, 2011 3:19 PM
34	need to see ways to measure vision before I can see if visions are realistic	Aug 30, 2011 3:00 PM
35	Before we invest in arts, etc let us make sure that people's basic survival needs are being met. I don't see much in the vision report that talks about meeting basic needs of the people in Johnson County.	Aug 30, 2011 2:49 PM
36	This vision tells County Officials that residents want things to change; it does not state that the status quo is acceptable. I think that making these changes will help Johnson County become more diverse and reflective of what people want a community to be in 20 years. It has convinced me not to give up and move somewhere else just yet. Implementing this vision is the responsible thing to do.	Aug 30, 2011 2:14 PM

Page 8, Q8. Do you have any general comments about the draft Vision Report that you would like to share with the committee?

37	The long term vision should include the elimination of duplication of services such as multiple 911 dispatch services between multiple cities and the County. Reductions and consolidation of school districts to save administrative costs. Consolidation of government entities among the 22 cities within the County. Use Wyandotte County as the example of consolidation and cost savings leading to economic and job growth.	Aug 30, 2011 2:08 PM
38	In these times of economic stress, Johnson County should strive to become a County that provides the support which gives the businesses the tools they need to be successful and the citizens (and citizens to be) the training and support they need to perform the jobs which will allow them to purchase the products that will make the businesses successful. This includes good public transportation, personal development, skills training and English as a second language. It should include all age and ethnic groups. Along with welfare and food stamps, the County should provide (or perhaps require) training and development as a stipulation of receiving this assistance. Government support should be a step up, not a hand-out. Johnson County should work to be an innovator and leader in this area.	Aug 30, 2011 2:02 PM
39	If something isn't done to stop the influx of illegal aliens into Johnson County, this plan will change over the allotted time period into something which was not envisioned or planned for.	Aug 30, 2011 1:59 PM

41	I noticed you have 2 representatives from Community Diversity on the committee but no one from parks, open space, and natural resources. It's a shame that such a priceless resource is being overlooked and likely devalued.	Aug 30, 2011 1:40 PM

43	No	Aug 30, 2011 1:26 PM
44	It may take 20 years to implement many of the goals in this report unless all of the department heads share the same vision. I hope this is not the case.	Aug 30, 2011 1:08 PM
45	Having lived in the metro area for over 40 years now I sense that the folks in Johnson County rank themselves above others in the metro area to the point of being arrogant. I dont think we should think we are better than the other counties or the folks in Missouri. This attitude makes for poor decisions for our neighbors and coordination of activities that would be beneficial the region.	Aug 30, 2011 1:06 PM
46	I think the general points are important. If these are to become the responsibility of county government I am not sure that should happen. If this vision is for all governments then perhaps it would work better.	Aug 30, 2011 1:02 PM
47	Great job!	Aug 30, 2011 12:43 PM
48	How is this being promoted to the entire county to participate in - I have not seen a lot of promotion of this personally - only through my position as a county employee. I think the it is critical to broaden the conversation in order for htis to	Aug 30, 2011 12:43 PM be viable and have buy-in from the community.

49	As a County resident and employee, I feel the following should be the County's general priorities... 1. Support efforts in ensuring that our education systems are best in region, if not the nation. 2. Support services for those with development disabilities and mental health challenges, so they may succeed in being active members in their community. 3. Continue to attract businesses with good paying jobs to the County. 4. Continue commitment to quality parks and recreational programs. 5. Continue commitment to growth in County, both in population and economic development.	Aug 30, 2011 12:42 PM
50	Trying to be all things to all people, overly ambitious. Need to focus on the core responsibilities of local government in these challenging times, which may be the new "normal!"	Aug 30, 2011 12:39 PM
51	Johnson County needs to be more involved in cross-state initiatives, that benefit both sides of the state line as we are very closely intertwined. .	Aug 30, 2011 12:34 PM
52	As a citizen of Johnson County, as well as an employoee for the county, there are items that I never know about until working for the county. The sevices that the county as a whole provides are wonderful.I have also, realized that there are things, as a county, that we could be using our money and time wiser. I do believe that there is a lack of knowledge amoungest the community one what all the county does/offers for the residents. I once belived that the county government was only in place for us to pay our taxes (car tags, house/property) and for the cops to find something wrong with the way we drive to give us tickets to help the government survive. Now working for the county I have gained knowledge on what we have to offer.	Aug 30, 2011 12:34 PM
53	Parks, Trails and Rec are very important. A great community will also have GREAT schools! After these priorities I see health/human services a top priority. What about a Recreation Center???	Aug 30, 2011 12:31 PM
54	Focusing on the wrong things.	Aug 30, 2011 12:17 PM
55	The statement... 'improving how we live and age' would be the simplest statement of a great county and place to live. By creating jobs, access to jobs/goods/services, high quality education and a safe environment in which to live and age... much has been accomplished to create a great county and place to live and age.	Aug 30, 2011 10:14 AM
56	Focus on jobs in Johnson County. How to attract jobs, how to keep the jobs here, how to help the homeless/poverty, infrastructure is a huge one I think it's time Kansas looks at what California has and that's a train system. It would be a wonderful investment and would make Johnson County even stand out further than what it already is!	Aug 26, 2011 11:24 AM
57	Jo Co is now #3 on the list for those in poverty, what does that tell you?	Aug 24, 2011 3:56 AM
58	Under the current leadership employees are completely disregarded and disrespected.	Aug 19, 2011 10:43 AM

Page 8, Q8. Do you have any general comments about the draft Vision Report that you would like to share with the committee?

59	It is very good. None the less, a continued inclusion of the diverse population is crucial. We are seeing more and more immigrants to our county.	Aug 19, 2011 9:48 AM
60	Good schools, along with cultural, arts and humanities amenities, add to the attractiveness of the county as a place to live and a place to conduct business. The county should continue to support the libraries, the museum and the parks, and do everything it can to maintain the fine public schools within the county.	Aug 18, 2011 1:28 PM
61	Some of my top priorities are to decrease the number of people in our jails by promoting prevention and substance abuse prevention strategies, keep up with the constant advances in technology, get more efficient and better transportation in the county, support efforts to get more citizens involved in taking responsibility for their health by exercising and eating right, and support and improve education in Johnson County.	Aug 18, 2011 8:54 AM
62	The arts can wait. It's ridiculous that it's on this survey. Dig deeper...not everyone in Johnson County earns $50,000 and well over. We need creative ways to help people keep their homes. We need more funding for the area food pantries which help not only with food, but school supplies, cleaning and personal supplies. We have under privileged citizens with many talents and can contribute to making the County better. Tap into these resources.	Aug 18, 2011 8:42 AM
63	I would emphasize the importance of the "Safe, Healthy and Caring Community" elements as a priority in that they address some of the most fundamental needs/concerns present in any community, and really form the foundation upon which the County would be able to effectively focus on the other more fine-tuning aspects of the Vision Report. As reflected in Maslow's Hierarchy, once people have established the basics of food and shelter, the next priority - which eventually allows for progress on to achievement and self-actualization - is safety.	Aug 18, 2011 8:01 AM
64	I am surprised that the Library system was included in Cultural Amenities and not in Education. I don't view the Library as an "amenity" but as a necessary partner with the public school system in life long learning for the citizens of Johnson County. Also, my understanding of the school district system is that the county really doesn't have any control over the district.	Aug 17, 2011 12:30 PM
65	Should there be thought to growth control? Report seems to look at continual expansion into urban areas. That may not be sustainable and a serious look at growth control due to growing demands placed on infrastructure and the ability to maintain it vice only growing it.	Aug 16, 2011 12:12 PM
